

Export worldwide

KfW Bankengruppe advises on, structures and arranges financing solutions, including the security required for export credits, even if the transaction involves shipments from several different countries. Its links to national state-run Export Credit Agencies (ECAs) are helpful here, enabling finance to be arranged from a single source. In addition, KfW Bankengruppe also works with private risk insurers, instead of or as well as the ECAs.

Which types of business can be financed?

- Supplies and services for international markets, worldwide
- Export business consisting of shipments from various countries
- Purchase of export receivables

Which financing instruments are used?

- Medium to long-term, tied or untied financial credits, with and without ECA cover
- Forfeiting of export receivables (purchase of receivables), also without recourse to the seller in the event of default

Within the scope of Germany's financial cooperation with developing and emerging/transition countries, KfW Bankengruppe also finances investments, structural reforms and accompanying advisory services in partner countries. The supplies and services required for implementation are put to international tender by its partners; German companies are eligible to take part in the tender process. This opens up opportunities for German exporters to sell their products in challenging up-and-coming markets.
